Colorful Rites Mark Installation Of New Bishop

Civil Allegiance and Spiritual Fealty Pledged

AN impressive solemnity of ritual, memorable for its spiritual significance as for its pageantry, marked the ceremonies connected with the installation last night, at St. Andrew's Cathedral, of Right Reverend Gerald C. Murray, D.D., as Bishop of Victoria. In their essence profoundly dignified, impressive and full of color and movement, the formalities nevertheless occupied little more than an hour, bringing to a close the busy programme of his lordship's first day in the diocese to which he was appointed by papal bull last January.

The edifice was packed to overflowing with devout Catholics, hundreds of whom remained after the benediction to pay homage, kneeling at the altar steps, to their new bishop.

The rites began promptly at 8 o'clock with the reception of Bishop Murray at the door of the cathedral. For fully an hour before this, however, the crowds had been gathering, and the route from the Bishop's palace to the church entrance was solidly flanked with spectators, while even standing room was at a premium in the cathedral. The arrival, at intervals of state and civic officials furnished momentary interest to the waiting throngs. Among the first of these was His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, in full court dress, and attended by his aides, Lieut.-Commander Hope, R.C.N., Major Henneay, D.S.O., M.C., and his private secretary, Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn. They occupied special seats immediately under the altar steps, and the pews immediately behind were filled with Provincial Government and civic representatives, the judiciary, and about twenty members of the Order of the Knights of Columbus, the last wearing full regalia with the colored ashes of the order across the breast. The full cathedral choir, in charge of Mr. Frank Sehl, and supplemented by the choir from St. Ann's convent chapel, occupied the choir loft; Miss Margaret McKay playing the organ for the few hymns and Te Deums which were sung during the service.

COLORFUL PROCESSION
Lingering daylight without, and the brilliant illuminations inside the cathedral, made it possible for people in both places to enjoy the pageantry of the procession. Moving slowly along View Street, headed by Bishop Murray, wearing his gold cope, his golden mitre on his head, and carrying a crozier in his hand, the procession entered the cathedral by the east door, where it was met by Rt. Rev. Mr. Lefebvre, administrator of the diocese since the departure of Bishop O'Donnell. The colorful pageant then moved up the aisle to the altar, where the

Shoots Niagara in Barrel

WILLIAM "Red" Hill, Canadian daredevil and one of the few men to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel—and live—has added the dangerous whirlpool rapids below the falls to his long list of achievements. The trip took over four hours.—Copyright, 1930, Pacific & Atlantic Photos, Inc.

Graf Zeppelin Is Due to Dock This Morning in Spain

NEW YORK, June 4.—The New York American publishes a copyright dispatch from Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, aboard the dirigible Graf Zeppelin en route to Seville from Lakehurst, N. J. The dispatch says: The Graf Zeppelin, pursuing its untroubled way home, will dock at Seville, Spain, and discharge passengers and mail tomorrow morning.

This became apparent late today when after the Azores were passed, speed was cut down by the wind to about sixty miles an hour, and Spain was still far away.

Chances for a record crossing went glimmering, but that made no difference to the thirty-two passengers, many of whom are enjoying their first Zeppelin tour.

The easy relaxation and sociability current on ocean-going steamers is even easier aboard the Graf Zeppelin and already the traveling company is well acquainted.

Weather has been favorable, and we have enjoyed the panorama of ocean vistas rolling over onward on all sides. The calm seas and the ever-refreshing salt air has done wonders to quiet several cases of "nerves" which manifested themselves shortly after our take-off.

We passed over Horta, the principal town of the Azores on the island of Fayal, at 11 o'clock. Azores time, 8 o'clock E.S.T., after a record trip of thirty-three hours since we left Long Island.

We passed over the colorful little quays low, and went along the island of St. George and over Azores, giving the passengers a bird's-eye view of the beautiful little clusters called the Azores. At 1 p.m. local time, we left the island behind and headed for Cape Vincent. Seville was 1,000 miles away, but the weather chart indicated that the northern cross winds would aid us only slightly.

DR. F. BAIRD IS CHOSEN MODERATOR

HAMILTON, Ont., June 4.—Rev. Dr. Frank Baird, of Picton, N.S., was tonight elected Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the opening of its annual meetings.

The only other contestant for the moderatorship was Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson, of Hamilton, pastor of Knox Church, in which the Assembly is meeting.

Several speakers said the Maritime Provinces had not had a moderator since the disintegration of the church at the time of church union in 1925, and it was now time to fill the highest office in the church.

Cuba Anxious to Increase Trade With Canada

OTTAWA, June 4.—Cuba is anxious and prepared to do all that is possible to increase trade between Cuba and Canada, according to Gabriel de la Campa, Cuban Consul-General at Ottawa, who returned Tuesday from a two months' vacation trip to his native island.

"In conversations I had with President Gerardo Machado and our Minister of Trade, I learned that Cuba is willing to go as far as Canada in following any plan mutually agreed upon for the increase of our trade," Mr. de la Campa added, indicating that to this end another Cuban consulate will shortly be opened in Vancouver.

"Canada is buying considerable high-grade Cuban tobacco. Sixty-four per cent of the potatoes imported into Cuba come from Canada," Mr. de la Campa stated. Similarly, the great bulk of the newspaper imported by Cuba comes from Canada.

ATTITUDE TO PROTECTION IS DEFINED

Manufacturers' Association Sets Out Views With Regard to Reasonable Protection

DECLARE POLICY TO EMPIRE TRADE

Exchange of Commodities Between Canada and Great Britain Presents Difficulty

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, June 4.—The report of the tariff committee was presented to the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association today by Major J. O. Thorne, of Winnipeg. It said that the many increases in the tariff rates of other countries since the Great War indicated a definite trend toward higher protection, especially for manufactured goods. Since the last general meeting, such changes had been particularly numerous.

DEFINITION OF ATTITUDE

Mr. E. R. Parsons, of Toronto, in the discussion which followed, was of the opinion that it should be made clear that Canadian manufacturers did not necessarily seek high protection. What was essential was simply reasonable protection, sufficient to insure employment of men and employment of capital.

Mr. T. F. Money, treasurer of the association, agreed. The tariff, he said, should be designed not to make it easy to manufacture goods in Canada, but merely to make it possible through effort and executive ability. Because some members locally used the word "protection," many people had conceived an unfair idea of the policies of the association.

EMPIRE TRADE

The proper safeguarding of the interests of Canadian producers, whether industrial or agricultural, is assured, every practical plan to increase trade among British countries should be supported, declared the official statement on British Empire trade, adopted by the association this afternoon.

The statement was read by Mr. John T. Stewart, general secretary. Continued on Page 2, Column 2

PATRIOTISM AND SCHOOL TEXTBOOKS

NELSON, June 4.—After three strenuous days of business, intermingled with some hours of pleasure, the fifth annual convention of the British Columbia Command, Canadian Legion, came to a close officially tonight. A monster smoker wound up the convention.

This afternoon numerous resolutions were passed with other business, which was rushed through in order that Coast and other delegates might get away on tonight's train for the West.

Naval Aviator Climbs To Indicated Height Of Over 42,000 Feet

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Lieut. Apollo Soucek, naval pilot, climbed to an indicated altitude of more than 42,000 feet today in an attempt to set a new world's airplane altitude record.

Two barographs must be checked by the Bureau of Standards and it will be several days before an accurate reading will be known. In order to beat the present record Soucek must have climbed to 42,122 feet.

He indicated he would try for the record again if the barograph checks showed he had not set a record. He landed after being in the air for two hours and seven minutes, reaching temperatures as low as 60 degrees below zero.

EXPERIENCE REQUIRED IN TAKU FIELD

Tulsequah Camp Is Expensive to Reach, Says Acting Inspector of Customs

According to reliable information obtained from those who should be in a position to know what they are talking about, the prospects are more encouraging for mining in the Tulsequah than in any other British Columbia field so far opened. This is the position of affairs at the northern mining centre in the Altin mining division, and located on the Taku River, as gleaned by Mr. T. Mason, acting inspector of customs, who has just returned from there, where he made an inspection into the situation with respect to the customs end of the situation.

FACILITIES FOR TRANSPORTATION

At the same time, Mr. Mason points out that care must be taken on the part of those who may have in view the entry of that country to engage in the alluring search for gold. It will be July 1 before the snow will be off the hills in the vicinity of the showings, sufficient to allow prospecting to be carried on there.

COST OF TRANSPORTATION

He also points out that the cost of getting to Tulsequah, which is the Canadian rendezvous whence access to the mining section is gained, costs quite a sum of money, approaching fifty or sixty dollars. While supplies are obtainable there at fair prices, considering the location, it will cost a considerable sum to live until the prospecting season begins. It is therefore a matter which those who have not means must consider before making the venture.

Discarded Submarine Chartered

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Shipping Board decided today to let Sir Hubert Wilkins charter the discarded navy submarine R-12 for his Arctic expedition.

The board first will obtain the undersea craft from the navy, and then charter it to Lake and Daneshower, Sir Hubert's representatives, for a period not to exceed five years at a $1 a year rental.

Under the tentative agreement, the submarine must be returned to the Shipping Board by July 1, 1936. The date of the expiration of the London naval treaty.

Prospectors Are Flocking To Cassiar District

WRANGELL, Alaska, June 4.—Prospectors were flocking to the Cassiar district, in Northern British Columbia, following the discovery of George Drapich, old-time Yukon miner, of a body of ore carrying values aggregating $60 a ton in copper, gold and silver.

The discovery was made about a hundred miles from Wrangell, on the left bank of the Stikine River. Already thirty-two claims have been staked, and the next boat will carry additional fortune seekers from Wrangell. One vein was said to be thirty feet wide.

A small sample taken by Drapich for test purposes assayed $49.44 in copper and $2.20 in gold. A shipment of fifteen tons of ore will be made to a smelter just as soon as it can be taken out and brought down the river.

Mr. V. Hartshorn Joins Ministry In Old Country

Accepts Portfolio of Lord Privy Seal and Will Be Premier's First Lieutenant in Campaign Against Unemployment—Dr. Christopher Addison Will Be Minister of Agriculture

Gov't Safely Weathers Another House Crisis

LONDON, June 4.—Rt. Hon. Vernon Hartshorn, who was Postmaster-General in the 1924 Labor Cabinet, tonight accepted Prime Minister MacDonald's invitation to become Lord Privy Seal, the Cabinet post vacated by Hon. J. H. Thomas to become Secretary of State for the Dominions. Another appointment expected in the partially reconstructed Labor Cabinet is that of Dr. Christopher Addison as Minister of Agriculture in succession to Hon. Noel Buxton, whose creation as a peer was announced in the King's Birthday honors Monday.

Mr. Hartshorn will act as the Prime Minister's first lieutenant in the intensified campaign against unemployment, which will be conducted by a committee of ministers. He also will take charge of unemployment matters in the Commons, answering questions on the subject.

Mr. Hartshorn would have received a ministerial appointment before, but has been serving as a member of the Simon Commission for India, which has completed its duties.

NOT A STRANGER
Dr. Addison is no stranger to the agriculture portfolio, for he has been serving as parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture. He was the first occupant of the post of Minister of Health in the Cabinet.

Mr. Addison de la Warr, under-secretary to the War Office, will succeed Dr. Addison as parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture, it is understood.

This post of Privy Seal became vacant yesterday when Premier MacDonald split the former post of Secretary of the Dominions. Lord Passfield is Secretary of State for the Colonies.

SECOND VICTORY

The Labor Government of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald today won its second victory within the space of a week, by defeating a House of Lords' amendment, 250 to 220.

Just a week ago today the Labor Government beat off a Conservative motion with a majority of 29, the vote being 270 to 241. The amendment defeated today would have eliminated the district levy from the Coal Bill, an extremely controversial measure which has troubled the MacDonald administration throughout this session of Parliament.

When the bill originally was introduced, it provided a central levy to subsidize coal exports. The Conservatives and Liberals joined to defeat the levy, but the Government inserted a district levy. It was this levy which the Lords sought to eliminate.

The grand jury of the special Assize Court yesterday returned a true bill against David Brotherton, accused of the murder of William Walker at Albert Head last April. A petit jury was selected, and the trial began before Mr. Justice Gregory. Evidence of some of the witnesses for the prosecution had been heard and the jury had been taken to view the scene of the shooting, when further hearing was adjourned until 10:30 o'clock this morning. Mr. A. M. Johnson, K.C., conducted the prosecution for the Crown, and Mr. Stuart Henderson appeared for the accused.

PARIS, France, June 4.—Next week, with the issue of the first series of the combined Young Plan bonds, known as the German International 3 1/2 per cent 1930 loan, the Bank for International Settlements begins the liquidation of reparations payments.

REVISED LIST OF GATHERINGS IS ANNOUNCED

Five Conventions Will Make Headquarters at Empress Hotel—Important Bodies Are Coming

MEDICAL PARTY MOST INFLUENTIAL

A revised list of the conventions and organized parties which will make their headquarters at the Empress Hotel this summer is issued, omitting all those arranged by travel bureaux, of which there are about as many as has been customary for several summers.

This list does not include the Western tour of the British Medical Association, which is timed to be in the city in the first week of September, probably September 3, owing to the fact that the convention is centred at Winnipeg, with group tours as a subsequent feature. This will be the most important body which will come to Canada in convention in 1930, the dates set being August 26 to August 29. Officials of the Canadian Medical Association, Manitoba Medical Association and Winnipeg Medical Society, aided by medical and public bodies throughout Canada, have been engaged for nearly three years in making ready for the seasons. On only two previous occasions has the British Medical Association met in Canada, at Montreal in 1897 and Toronto in 1906. It is not known what eminent men will join the Western party for the tour to

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain—How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Blaudat's Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid, and there is no sourness, gas or pain.

Blaudat's Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or effervescent) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. (Adv.)

LOCAL LABOR IS EMPLOYED

As Far as Possible Victorians Are Engaged in Installation Work of Dial System

INSIDE MAINTENANCE STAFF INCREASED

Fifty inside construction men are busily engaged installing the central office automatic equipment for Victoria's new dial telephone system.

While it was necessary for some of the wiring to be done in England, where the equipment was built, as much of the work as possible was left for local labor. Actually about 90 per cent of the work that could have been done in the Old Country is being done here. This made necessary the employment of twenty additional men, about fifteen of whom are Victorians.

Another feature of the new system from an employment standpoint is that more men will be needed to maintain the equipment under the new system as it does for the manual office.

The type of equipment that is being installed in Victoria has been installed as standard by the British Postoffice, which controls the telephone system in Great Britain.

CAMPAIGN FOR TUSCANY STRAW HATS LOOMING

FLORENCE, Italy, June 4.—A nation-wide campaign for Tuscan straw hats today loomed as one result of the new American tariff. The manufacturers prepared to arrange displays of the hats in headgear in all principal cities to tickle the fancy of Italians and stimulate sales at home.

Women Sponsor Nomination of Mr. Woodsworth

WINNIPEG, Man., June 4.—The prominent party men will play the present Federal election campaign was demonstrated last night when Mr. J. S. Woodsworth, former Member of Parliament, was nominated to again contest Winnipeg North Centre as the Independent Labor party candidate.

Women proposed and seconded his nomination. Mr. Frank Haddock was the proposer, and Mrs. Jean Riddell, the seconder. Mr. Woodsworth, who is still in Ottawa, was represented at the convention by Mrs. Woodsworth.

NAME SUGGESTED FOR SENATE SEAT

VERNON, June 4.—The name of Dr. K. C. MacDonald, M.P. of this city, has been put forward as a possible choice for the Senate vacancy caused by the death of the late Speaker Bostock, following the recent Liberal convention at Kamloops. Delegates present from the Federal riding of Yale and Cariboo met under the chairmanship of J. J. Gillis, M.P., and forwarded the following to Premier Mackenzie King: "Meeting of delegates from Yale and Cariboo ridings at provincial convention here was unanimous that Senate vacancy caused by Senator Bostock's death be filled by appointment of resident of one of our two ridings and recommended Dr. K. C. MacDonald, of Vernon, B.C., for such appointment."

Dr. MacDonald was first returned to the Provincial Legislature for North Okanagan in 1916, and subsequently at the general elections of 1920 and 1924. On being appointed Provincial Secretary by the late Premier Oliver, he returned to his constituency for reelection, and was beaten by the late Mr. A. O. Cochran.

Royal Commission Sittings Conclude

SASKATOON, Sask., June 4.—With the session at Saskatoon ending yesterday, public hearings of the Saskatchewan Royal Commission of Immigration and Settlement virtually came to a close, though it is possible that one or two more hearings may be required. The commissioners hope to present their report to the government toward the end of the summer.

Highlights of yesterday's session was the statement of Prof. Manly Champlin, Field Husbandry Department, University of Saskatchewan, that Western Canada's wheat acreage has practically reached its limit. The only area he considered likely to show much increase in wheat acreage was the Peace River territory. The older sections of Saskatchewan and Manitoba were turning from wheat.

Court of Appeal Victoria Sittings

The following reserved judgments were delivered at the beginning of the Court of Appeal in Victoria yesterday:

Deane (Respondent) vs. the Independent Lands, Limited, and Hale (Appellant).—The company owned certain wild lands which they desired to have ploughed. Hale was president of the company. The company gave to a man named Moffett an option to purchase the land. It was a term of the option that the land should be ploughed by Moffett. Respondent had knowledge of Moffett's relationship to the company, but was introduced to Hale as a person able to do the ploughing. Hale arranged a contract for the work and a price was agreed upon. Respondent regarded Moffett as an agent for appellants and received money from him on account of the ploughing. The option was forfeited while the work was still proceeding. Respondent had no notice of the forfeiture and continued the work. On demanding payment of the amount due to him he was told to look to Moffett. He sued appellants. Hale did not notify respondent of the forfeiture of the option. It was his duty to have done so. He remained silent and the company obtained the benefit.

Respondent abandoned his claim against the company during the course of the appeal. Appeal was dismissed, Martin, J.A. dissenting.

Dominion Ore Concentration Company vs. Carr, et al.—This was an appeal from a decision of the court for the sale of mineral claims in consideration of shares in the plaintiff company. The shares were transferred to the vendors and a portion of the mineral claims was transferred to the company. The trial judge had held that though there was misrepresentation there was no fraud on the part of any of the defendants. The company had neglected to do and record the assessment work necessary for the maintenance of the claims, which had to be done in England. By its own act, therefore, the company was unable to give back what it had received. It was argued that the lands were still owned by the Crown and open for relocation and, therefore, the company could restate them. The court held that that was a fallacious argument. The company had been received in the same condition as it was when received, had become impossible, there could be no rescission of the contract. Appeal was dismissed.

A. J. Albutt & Co., Ltd. vs. Riddell.—This action arose from the sale of a motor car under a conditional sale contract. The Pacific Motors purchased the car from the plaintiff, Riddell, but had no sufficient money to pay for it. The purchasers applied to the plaintiff company for a loan to enable them to pay for the car. A cheque was assigned for treating the plaintiff company as owner and seller and the Pacific Motors as the buyer. To secure the loan by the plaintiff company, the car was mortgaged to the plaintiff company, assuming that the car was entered under the Conditional Sale Act instead of the Bills of Sale Act, which would have been the proper title. The plaintiff company, assuming that the car was entered under the Conditional Sale Act, sold the car to the defendant, Riddell, and gave him a chattel mortgage over the car to secure the loan. Default was made in payment under the chattel mortgage, and defendant sold the car. The plaintiff company, relying upon the conditional sales agreement, sued for damages for conversion.

The Court of Appeal held that the car never came into the possession of the plaintiff company and the conditional sale agreement was ineffective. Defendant was entitled to sell the car. Appeal was allowed.

Hall vs. Geiger.—In an action to recover damages for malicious prosecution, the plaintiff had been committed for trial in not prima facie proof of reasonable and probable cause for such prosecution. The law in British Columbia does not, at most, go further than to allow the action of the committing magistrate to be treated as one element in the decision of the question of the existence of reasonable and probable cause on all the facts of the particular case.

Appeal was dismissed.

Rex (A) vs. Chung Chuck (R).—Respondent had been convicted for an infringement of the Produce Market Act. He had been told by the commissioner to store certain potatoes. Instead of doing so he sold them. He claimed that he had verbal permission to effect the sale, but that the permission required by the act and verbal permission was insufficient. It was proper to draw the inference that the sale took place on respondent's farm, and the magistrate therefore had jurisdiction to try the case. The conviction by the magistrate was affirmed.

The appeal was allowed.

Childs vs. Nelson.—In this case the evidence was contradictory and the county court judge had expressed his preference for the evidence of the plaintiff and her witnesses. The Court of Appeal held that the finding of the trial judge should not be disturbed.

tracted to deliver to defendant 500 tin pails. Defendant intimated that he might order a further quantity. Later he ordered 500 additional pails, but before the order was accepted or acted upon he cancelled it. Of the 500 pails contracted for twelve were delivered and accepted, though they were not in accordance with the sample agreed upon. Subsequently plaintiff delivered seventy-three pails which were rejected as not being in accordance with the sample. Defendant then cancelled all orders for pails only. Defendant was therefore entitled to replacement damages for 488 pails, that is, the difference between the contract price and what he had to pay outside to replace the order.

The appeal was allowed.

Griffiths (R) vs. Fordyce Motors, Ltd. (A).—Respondent purchased a motor car from appellant under a contract for payment of the purchase price by instalments. After using the car for some months he desired to drive the car to Aurora, Ontario. The contract did not permit of his taking the car outside the province. He obtained leave to do so from appellant. He was not in arrears with the payments due from him. When he arrived at Aurora the car was seized by a bailiff and shipped to appellant in Vancouver, where it was sold for $1,000. Respondent claimed damages in the county court and was awarded $1,000.

Appellants appealed to the Court of Appeal on the grounds that the damages were excessive. The Court of Appeal held that there was sufficient evidence to support the award in the unusual circumstances of the trespass.

The appeal was dismissed (Macdonald C.J.A. holding that the damages should be reduced).

Patching vs. Howarth.—Plaintiff sued defendant for libel. It was claimed that there was not sufficient evidence of publication. At the close of plaintiff's case defendant proceeded with the defence of justification. The Court of Appeal held that where a defendant enters upon his defence, though the plaintiff has failed to establish a prima facie case in not proving some essential issue, if the defendant makes out that issue, it inures to the benefit of the plaintiff and supports the action. In this case the defendant's course must be taken as a virtual admission of publication. It must be assumed that she admitted that she had met the plaintiff's case.

The appeal was dismissed.

In Re Parshale-Shaw vs. Cox.—It had been decided by the Court of Appeal (Martin, J.A. dissenting) that relatives of the half-blood could not inherit lands which came to the intestate on the part of an ancestor. The estate came to an intestate by devise from her half-brother. The half-brother had given a mortgage to intestate, and an advance of $32,000. The question for decision was whether the mortgage money should be deemed to be personal estate to be distributed as such, or whether the mortgage should be deemed to have merged in the inheritance received under the devise. The Court of Appeal held that if the intestate had by declaration or conduct indicated an intention on the part of the mortgagee to keep the mortgage separate, she had assigned the mortgage by a deed of collateral security for a loan. In this case the mortgage was a good and subsisting mortgage. From that fact no facts appear in evidence to indicate that the mortgage was intended to be merged in the inheritance. The mortgage was a separate portion of her estate and remained so until her death, and was part of the personal estate to be distributed by her administrator.

The appeal was allowed and the costs of all parties ordered to be paid out of the estate.

Lai Sing vs. Sidney Lumber Co., Ltd.—The Court of Appeal dismissed the appeal. Martin, J.A. dissenting held that while there was evidence to support the finding of the trial judge that plaintiff was negligent, he was unable to adopt the view that the injuries suffered by him should be attributed to that negligence alone. The case was within the provisions of the Contributory Negligence Act because both parties were at fault within an equal degree.

National Pole & Treating Co. vs. The Blue River Pole & Tie Co. and James Shaw.—Plaintiff, the National Pole & Treating Co., brought in action to recover the amount of two promissory notes made by defendant company and endorsed in its name by Shaw, who had previously been its managing director. Shaw had, in defendant company's name, signed a guarantee for payment of money advanced, or to be advanced, to defendant company. It was contended that Shaw had no authority to endorse the notes, though it was that, to date shortly before the date of the notes, he was held out as having authority to manage defendant company's business in the ordinary course. The transactions, however, were not in the course of defendant company's business, but contrary to it. The evidence that plaintiffs were aware that Shaw's authority had ceased should be accepted.

The appeal was allowed.

Larson vs. Montgomery.—This was an appeal in an action arising out of a claim to a share of certain mineral claims. The case depended largely upon the plaintiff's evidence and the trial judge had found that there was no corroboration. The trial judge had accepted plaintiff's evidence with no hesitation in the slightest degree and was of opinion that the merits were with him, but dismissed his claim solely because his evidence was not corroborated by some other material evidence as required by Section 11 of the Evidence Act.

It was held in the Court of Appeal that an examination of all the evidence provided sufficient corroboration of the circumstances. The appeal was allowed.

The complete list of judgments handed down yesterday was as follows:

Shaw vs. Cox, allowed.

Larson vs. Montgomery, allowed.

Lai Sing vs. Sidney Lumber Co., Ltd., dismissed, J.A. Martin dissenting in part.

Childs vs. Nelson, dismissed.

Samples of Wheat To Be Distributed At Shrine Meeting

TORONTO, June 4.—Five thousand samples of the consignment of Alberta wheat which won the world championship at the Chicago Grain Exposition last Fall will be distributed among visitors at the Shrine convention here next week. Arrangements for the novel method of attracting attention to Alberta's and Canada's achievements in the world of agriculture were concluded yesterday by Hon. George Hoadley, Alberta's Minister of Agriculture. As the result of his negotiations, 5,000 phials containing the wheat samples will arrive here in a few days ready for distribution to interested Shriners and their families.

The champion wheat was grown on the farm of Mr. Joseph H. B. Smith at Wolf Creek, Alta.

My wife brought him home; we put him on Eagle Brand and thanks to it he is now a big husky kid and able to hold his own with any of them."

THE DERBY

Those who took a tip from the manner in which India is now figuring in the news might well have backed the entry of His Highness the Aga Khan in yesterday's Derby. The victory of Blenheim came in the nature of a surprise, for his previous form did not suggest that he would win the Blue Ribband of the turf. His Highness deserves the victory. He is the owner of many race horses and his popularity in Great Britain as a sportsman is second to none.

The Derby retains all its old-time prominence in the hearts of the sporting public everywhere. It is the outstanding event on the turf, is the medium for sweepstakes everywhere, and yesterday no item of news passing over the cables transcended in importance the result of the race on Epsom Downs. A great sportsman owns the winner and it was a great race. The Derby is always creating new traditions. This year it provides yet another link between Great Britain and the Princes of India, as well as, in the name of the victorious horse, recalling the outstanding victory won by Marlborough in his great military campaign of 1704.

THE BEAUBARNOS POWER ISSUE

The Mackenzie King Government has granted to Mr. R. O. Sweeney and his associates rights for hydro-electric development of the Soulanges section of the St. Lawrence River between Lake St. Francis and Lake St. Louis. The corporation for development purposes is to be known as the Beaubarnos Power Corporation, with various subsidiary companies. The order-in-council approving development was passed on March 18, 1929. It is now claimed that this order-in-council does not mean acceptance of the plan for the undertaking recommended by a joint board of engineers in November, 1926. The claim is, moreover, that the Beaubarnos Company has violated and exceeded terms imposed on it, and in so doing has committed acts which justify an explanation from the Government as to whether or not it has an agreement with the said company whereby the whole of the unallocated portion of this section of the St. Lawrence River will be turned over for exploitation.

The matter was discussed in Parliament. Following the granting of the rights the Beaubarnos Corporation was launched and it agreed to pay the Beaubarnos Syndicate (Mr. Sweeney and his associates) $4,750,000 in cash, to assume all their liabilities and to pay $10,000,000 in cash so that the affairs of the syndicate could be wound up. There were other settlements also affecting original owners of certain rights. The scheme involves the development of 2,000,000 horse power. The original promoters, who secured the concessions from the Federal Government, are benefiting to the tune of nearly $5,000,000 in cash and it is this fact, coupled with the sweeping rights given by the Government, without the necessary safeguards, that has made the Beaubarnos deal a first class political issue in Quebec.

The company has received from the Federal Government the approval of plans to carry 40,000 cubic feet of water per second. That amount should produce approximately 600,000 horse power, but the company's advertisement states that within five years 1,000,000 horse power will have been developed. It is, moreover, pointed out in the stock-selling prospectus that the development of 1,000,000 horse power will be only one-half of the final objective. The financial position of the company at present is that it has some $23,000,000 in its treasury and that it is to issue first mortgage bonds of the Beaubarnos Light, Heat & Power Company for the balance of $27,000,000. Newman, Sweeney & Company and Dominion Securities Corporation have bonds worth $3,000,000 and $20,000,000 class A common shares worth $37,000,000. In the final analysis of the financial arrangement it is noted that Newman, Sweeney & Company and the Dominion Securities Corporation get $3,000,000 worth of bonds and $28,000,000 in class A common shares and the company gets $27,000,000, an arrangement, described in the course of the discussion in Parliament, as one "which cannot be considered in the best interests of the company or of the public."

Summing up the financial figures which he laid before Parliament Mr. Robert Gardiner (Acadia), says the syndicate gets cash, $3,750,000 and 1,000,000 class A common shares—$60,000,000, while Newman, Sweeney & Company and the Dominion Securities Corporation get bonds, $38,000,000 and $35,000,000 class A common shares—$38,000,000. This makes a total of $104,800,000. In addition, says Mr. Gardiner, the foregoing parties obtain the whole Beaubarnos project paid in full by the Beaubarnos Corporation, "which means that Sweeney and his associates have not one single dollar of their own money invested in this transaction. In other words, for promoting this transaction, they receive $104,800,000, the company has some $23,000,000, and has to pay any other liabilities of the Beaubarnos syndicate." In commenting on the figures he gave to Parliament Mr. Gardiner said: "This is sufficient in itself to justify the rescinding of the order-in-council which enables Mr. Sweeney and his associates to perpetrate such an outstanding grab of the natural resources belonging to the people of this Dominion."

Mr. R. B. Bennett made a strong statement on the Beaubarnos deal when the discussion arose in the House of Commons. Alluding to it he said, "I would rather be relegated to private life and be there forever than remain silent on an occasion of this kind." In the deal by which the Government gave the rights to the Beaubarnos syndicate Mr. Bennett points out that no provision was made for the regulation of rates, and no restrictions placed on the over-capitalization of the enterprise. There are no restrictions he says, no restraints or conditions imposed by the Government upon the exercise of powers, "which touch vitally the lives of hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of people." He does not believe there is a Canadian who, when reading the story told in Parliament, will not regard the Government's action as "a menace to the industrial and economic development of Canada." Mr. Bennett maintains that the whole matter should be the subject of a judicial inquiry. "It rests with us," he says, "with each of us, to say whether or not it shall be tolerated, and I believe that in the end the common sense of the Canadian people will prevail and that, great and powerful though the promoters have been, they are not sufficiently powerful to control the common sense of the people of Canada."

RELIGION AND PEACE

Dr. F. W. Norwood has made it clear that the Congregational Union of England and Wales is not enamored of the result of the London Naval Conference. This disposes of the idea that the churches as a whole believe in the Three-Power Agreement. Dr. Norwood's conception is that parity is unimportant if the word of nations cannot be trusted. Parity has been hailed as a heaven-sent achievement, but he regards it as a cynical denial of faith in the covenant world. The London Conference, therefore, has proved a denial of the goal of peace.

Under the circumstances in which Dr. Norwood views the Pact parity is an American concession rather than a British beau geste. It means for the United States the building of new ships much more than the scrapping of old ones. The Three-Power Agreement has a conditional clause so that if France or Italy increase their armaments the whole scheme of the figures of parity can be altered. Already, within a few months of the signing of the Pact, Italy has ordered the building of a 10,000-ton cruiser, two flotilla destroyers and twenty-two submarines. Dr. Norwood believes that if the two English-speaking nations had held boldly to the Peace Pact they would have rallied to their side the vast preponderance of world opinion and support. Even France and Italy would have followed in their wake. As it is the Three-Power Pact is another demonstration of "the futility of establishing peace upon a balance of power." The foundation of peace, according to Dr. Norwood, is in the honorable word of nations which can be best validated by an unequivocal cut in armaments.

Mr. Arthur Brisbane, a writer in the Hearst Press, says: "Britons, building sailing boats for centuries, cannot compete with modern American boatbuilders. Youthful inventive genius is better than old experience." This dictum will probably impress a superficial audience coming as it does from one of the most superficial writers of the modern press.

Quebec Soliel, a Liberal organ, says Mr. Mackenzie King never said he would not give a five cent piece to Conservative Provincial Governments. Hansard quotes him as saying so and members edit their own speeches for Hansard. Mr. King not only made the memorable "five-cent" statement, but repeated it to make assurance doubly sure.

THE CITY AND SUBURBAN

The City and Suburban race originated in the laproom of an Epsom tavern eighty years ago. About half a dozen London publicans decided to begin a new race, to be run on the famous Epsom Course. Between them they raised 150 sovereigns, and the first race took place in 1851. The original proviso, however, is still kept, that the winner shall give not less than ten guineas to the funds of the Licensed Victuallers' Protection Society. In 1878, a horse named Mornington, a rank outsider, won the event. The owner, Tom Cannon, on returning home found a lion had been born to him. The child was christened Mornington in honor of the victory. Seventeen years later the boy set up a record by himself winning the race, this time on the Duke of Beaufort's Revue d'Or—"Town Talker" in The London Daily News and Westminster Gazette.

NIGHTINGALES

The arrival of the nightingale in England is always supposed to cause chagrin to the Scotsman, for its visits north of the border are few. A century ago Sir John Sinclair, convinced that the seeming slight was due merely to ignorance of the Scottish amenities, procured a number of nightingales from the South of England and had them placed in robin's nests on his estate. In due course the young birds made their appearance and flew about, apparently quite at home in their surroundings. But in September they migrated and never returned—"Chanticleer" in The London Daily Herald.

Note and Comment

By R. A. D.

Chancellor has no more to do with substance than it has with politics.

There is, however, a limit at which substance ceases to be a virtue.—Burke.

There was a time, and that was not a very ancient time, when the people of the world, the superior people and the common people, attached great value to land. Practically all of the land in most of the great nations of Europe had been given to the superior people as a possession, and the common people naturally were envious of the lot of the superior people. Land was therefore not only a valuable possession; it was a prime security. Land was in every sense the foundation of the castles and the stately homes of England and other parts of Great Britain. Land was also the foundation of the United States of America. The common people of the world looked to the new republic in millions because there land was plentiful and cheap.

Thus the foundation of the United States was laid upon land, but it was not land that made the people of America rich; it was the people who looked in to possess the land, for land is no longer the source of all wealth; it is the people who give value to the land. In fact, land is no longer considered one of the standards of value. If land were one of the greatest potential sources of wealth, Canada would be one of the richest countries in the world. The land of England is at the present time "dirt cheap." That is because land as an agricultural "proprietor" cannot produce enough wealth to pay the taxes modern democratic institutions are imposing upon it. The agricultural people of America have found out that the business of farming does not pay either, and have appealed to governments to help them make farming pay by taking arbitrary measures for increasing the value of farm products.

In both Canada and the United States it has been said the land has been producing too much, so the political farmers of our Prairies have demanded that the government keep people out of the country until the balance between production and consumption throughout the world shall be restored. The minds of those theorists that never seem to have entered the minds of those theorists that if Canada had a population proportionate to her extent of territory the problem which perplexes them would be at least on the way to solution.

Still the major premise that there is no money in agricultural land any longer has been established. But there is money to be made out of properties which would not exist but for the land. If you know how to go about it. There are resourceful people in Canada who know how to go about it, who know that there is more money to be made out of the potential values attached to the land than out of speculation in stocks, shares and bonds. There were certain revelations in the Canadian Parliament just when that body was on the eve of final dissolution which indicated that there is much more value in water than there has been in land for a very long time. The modern barons do not covet land; they thirst for water. Their thirst for water cannot be assuaged by water in buckets. They require all the waters of one of the mightiest rivers in the world to meet their requirements.

We suppose all the people who read the Parliamentary reports have learned something about what is known as the Beaubarnos power affair. We were going to write a paper on it, but we decided that it was too long and too involved and wrote the milder term. One of the peculiar features of the Beaubarnos power affair is that the leaders of the major political parties have said little about it, although Mr. Bennett did profess his astonishment when Mr. Gardiner had finished his exposition. Possibly that is because we have entered upon a new and more elevated political era in Canada and it is considered bad form to exploit affairs of the kind for political purposes. But surely the interests of the country are quite as important as the interests of politicians.

However that may be, The Ottawa Journal seems to believe some notice should be taken of the affair and has this to say about it:

It is desirable that the public should get clearly in mind the exact facts of the Beaubarnos power deal, seemingly one of the most outrageous things which has ever been perpetrated with the assistance of the government of a civilized country, namely, in the case of the Government of Mr. Mackenzie King.

R. O. Sweeney first buys the Robert Company. He doesn't pay anything. He just agrees to pay. The reason he buys it is that the Robert Company has a charter and property which Mr. Sweeney's keen brain can be used to create a great power development with St. Lawrence water.

To carry through his plans, Mr. Sweeney needs a partner.

The Colonist is delivered to the principal New York hotels, on order only, by the Long Ace Newspaper Delivery. Order may be given to the Mail Clerk of your hotel or telephone to Longacre, 4440.

IN LONDON

The Colonist may be procured at the International News Stand of Messrs. Selfridge & Co. Oxford St.

Sweeney has to have powerful and wealthy associates. He forms the private Sweeney syndicate, to hold the Robert Company stock.

The Sweeney syndicate, to carry on the project, forms the Beaubarnos Power Corporation—of which the syndicate keeps control.

The Beaubarnos Power Company frames an enormous monopoly and proceeds to buy the Robert Company from the Sweeney syndicate for $3,750,000 cash and one million shares of stock, agreeing at the same time to pay to the Robert people all that Sweeney agreed to pay them.

Now let us get our bearings on this deal.

What was the public value of the Sweeney work?

What is the effect as regards public interest?

1. Mr. Sweeney's conception had great public value.

It was tremendously desirable that Canada should get a million horse-power development along that reach of the St. Lawrence. No upper or lower part of the river is so fertile; not a single horse-power nor a single dollar value is taken from any other development that can be made.

The development had to be an enterprise by a private company. The Quebec Government would allow nothing else. The Quebec Government owns the territory; the Quebec Government's policy is opposed to public ownership.

Mr. Sweeney's enterprise was desirable, and his brains were entitled to a good reward.

2. The actual effect as regards public interest is that Mr. Sweeney and his associates receive such a gross reward that the public is going to pay a disproportionately high price for electricity in this part of Canada for a million years to come. If the earth lasts that long. A hundred million dollars taken by the Sweeney promoters means that the capitalization of the Beaubarnos Power Corporation is so unduly great that to pay interest on it will require that the price of the electricity developed on that stretch of our great Canadian river must for all time be several dollars per horse-power higher than it should be; and that Canadian industry must lose that benefit.

3. What was the Dominion Government's responsibility, and what is its answer?

What is a government for? Is it to sit in salaried seats at Ottawa as trustees of the public and let the public be soaked by financial promoters? The Dominion has absolute control. Not a pall of water can be poured on the St. Lawrence without the approval of the Dominion Government. The Sweeney proposition asked the Dominion Government for water. The Dominion Government could impose what terms it chose. But not the slightest effort was made by the Dominion Government to see that the Government, whose trustees the Sweeney promoters were to be deprived for all time of a great value from one of the greatest of our national assets.

What is the object of partnership bidding? It is to secure the best bid of two hands, and, second, to arrive at a game contract should the combined values warrant.

Really good bidders take nothing for granted in the early stages of bidding. They realize thoroughly that the best bid of thirteen cards may not be the best bid of twenty-six, and hence, first and second round bids are for the most part merely endeavors to feel out the high card strength and suit distributions of the two hands before committing the partnership to any definite final declaration. Thus, partnership bidding has the third object of uncovering, if possible, the precise suit distributions of the two hands.

The importance of distribution as a determining factor cannot be overestimated. Partnership values consist of three kinds. First, high card or honor values; second, long card values, i.e., established or establishable long cards of suits of five or more cards; and third, if the hand is to be played as a suit, distributional values, i.e., ability to employ the cards of the trump suit in both hands separately.

Granted, suit distribution (the way the four suits are distributed in a hand of thirteen cards) is as a rule the determining factor as to its best bid, whether a suit or a No-Trump. It follows logically that distribution should also be the determining factor as to the best bid of twenty-six cards.

CROWDS GREET BISHOP MURRAY

NEW BISHOP OF VICTORIA
SPENDS BUSY AFTERNOON
AFTER WELCOME

Call at Government House and Dinner at Empress Hotel
Precede Installation

Fitting formalities marked the arrival of the city yesterday afternoon of Most Rev. Gerald C. Murray, D.D., the new Bishop of Victoria, and his lordship's first day in his diocese proved a busy one.

The first formal greetings which he and the other distinguished clergies accompanying him received from His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, for whom Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn acted as proxy, Mayor Anson, and Most Rev. Mr. Leleux, administrator of the diocese, Rev. Father Evans, rector of St. Andrew's Cathedral, carried out the introductions on board the Vancouver hotel before the party departed.

At Belleville Street further introductions and formalities took place before the bishop and the other clergy were assigned to their seats in the long line of waiting cars and driven to the Bishop's Palace, View Street. A throng of clergies, laymen and women, and hundreds were present also at the Bishop's Palace and cheered as he entered his new home. At the top of the steps he stood, bareheaded, to be photographed, Mr. Leleux at his right and Father Evans at his left. Rev. Father Evans called on all the Catholics to kneel and receive their bishop's first blessing.

The procession of motors was led by the chief of police and following this in quick succession arrived those containing Bishop Murray and the other clergy.

After a short rest at the Bishop's Palace his lordship and all the visiting clergy went to Government House to call on His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who received his guests in the drawing-room and subsequently conducted them through the grounds. Among the objects of special interest which were pointed out were the totem and West Coast Indian war canoe presented to the late Hon. W. C. Nichol during his regime at Government House. The magnificent view from the terrace and the almost unparalleled wealth of early summer bloom in the gardens were greatly admired by the Eastern visitors especially. Before leaving all the clergy signed the visitors' book. The names showing the names of the Most Rev. Gerald Murray, Bishop of Victoria; the Most Rev. William Duke, D.D., coadjutor archbishop of Vancouver; Rt. Rev. John T. Kidd, D.D., Bishop of Calgary; and twenty-five other out-of-town clergy.

Shortly before 6 o'clock Bishop Murray left the Bishop's Palace for the Empress Hotel, where a dinner was given in the Princess Louise private dining room in honor of his lordship and other Catholic clergy here for the installation. The dinner was strictly formal and there were no speeches owing to the necessity of early return to the palace to prepare for the installation ceremony at the Cathedral at 8 o'clock.

Visiting clergy who are guests at the Bishop's Palace are Archbishop Duke, Vancouver; Very Rev. George Daly, C.S.S.R., Toronto; Rev. Fr. Myllet, C.S.S.R., Toronto; Rev. Fr. Walsh, C.S.S.R., Calgary, all members of the Dominion Episcopal Order, which Bishop Murray has been the Dominion head for some years.

The Rhyming Optimist
By Alne Michaelis

IN THE COURTYARD
Hidden away from the world are
Here in the courtyard cool;
Soft winds sing through the tulip
tree,
Goldfish play in the pool.
It might be an old-world patio
Or a castle in Aragon;
This, where the tulip laughs bend
low,
And the water gleams in the sun.

Perhaps should we pass through the lofty rooms
Out to the world that waits,
We might find a glamorous city blooms
Exotic, beyond the gates.
Perhaps we might hear the tinkling
note
Of a softly-strummed guitar,
And, welling up from a darkskinned throat,
Old songs of a moths and a star.

But why dream of the charm that operates the distance beach,
The lure of the long ago?
Why build these fancies of earth's fair ends,
When love's bright blossoms blow
Here in the courtyard for you and me,
Where the fountain lifts its spray,
Where soft winds sing through the tulip tree
And you live its joyous day?

PRETTY WEDDING IS CELEBRATED

Miss Jean Oldershaw and Mr. John McCredie Married at First United Church

The First United Church was the scene of a largely attended wedding last night when Rev. W. Wilson, D.D., united in matrimony Miss Jean Oldershaw, 1960 McKenna Avenue, and Mr. John J. McCredie, only son of the late Mr. A. and Mrs. McCredie, of May Street, Victoria.

The church had been elaborately decorated for the occasion by the Axiom Club under the supervision of Miss Beale Forbes. Double Gothic arches had been thickly covered with shaded pink flowers, and during the ceremony the bride and groom stood beneath a white arch, flanked by tall standard baskets of pink wickia and greenery. Four arches, decked in shaded pink flowers, were also placed in the central aisle to mark the guest pews. During the service Mrs. A. Dowell sang "Because." The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely empire gown of ivory satin drooping at the back over which was arranged a train of lace which was attached to the Marie Antoinette collar at the back of the neck, and caught at the waist line with tiny rhinestone buckles on each side. Her veil of embroidered tulle was worn with a coronet of orange blossom in the form of a cap and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and swansons.

ATTENDANTS
 Miss Evelyn Wilson was maid of honor in a gown of orchid fall crepe cut in princess style with a large bow at the back of the gathered waist. She wore a mohair hat to match, tied with velvet ribbon with long streamers.

Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Violet Overden. They wore sleeveless frocks drooping at one side, the former in coral fall crepe and the latter in pale green, and both hats trimmed with flowers to match their dresses, and carried bouquets of sweet peas. Mr. Crawford supported the groom and the ushers were Mr. Charles Burr and Mr. Gordon Sward.

RECEPTION HELD
 A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and groom received the guests in the drawing room, standing in a bower of palms and large bowls of aquilegia. They were assisted by Mrs. Oldershaw in a smart ensemble of deep blue and blue delphiniums. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Violet Overden. LOTTERY LAW IS DISCUSSED BY LEGION

SWEETSTAKES
 Sweepstakes and lotteries came in for attention. It was pointed out that there were numerous sweepstakes handled in British Columbia. The law, by which, but apparently was being permitted by the Government. The veterans decided to get in touch with the Attorney-General on this matter. If the Government intends to enforce the law the Legion is favorable, but if the Government is to let these lotteries continue unmolested it is the intention of the veterans to make use of this means for raising money.

PATRIOTIC IGNORANCE
 That 80 per cent of the boys who came before him as head of the Boys' Industrial School did not know "God Save the King," and that "O Canada" had never been heard of, was declared by Mr. B. Brankin, of New Westminster, when a resolution pledging support to the provincial authorities on the matter of putting in the schools of the province only textbooks published in Britain or Canada was being discussed.

"I know the number of stars in our flag, daddy," a child in a Coast city school recently told his mother, according to Mr. W. McKinstry, of Collingwood, and showed his father the picture of the Stars and Stripes in his school book. Though the resolution committee recommended nonconcurrent in this resolution, on the ground that the Minister of Education was taking effective action in the matter, the convention overruled it and went on record on the principle, and on the matter of putting its weight behind the Government on this issue.

A disappointing thing about our "home" children is the fact that they never turn out as bad as we expect.

City & District

Visit Comes—Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, will open a new high school in Comox this afternoon. Following the function the minister will address a public meeting this evening at Courtenay, before returning to the capital.

Not Back Yet—Premier Tominke has not returned to the city yet after attending the farmers' picnic at Summerland on Tuesday. He is driving back, and is not expected in the capital before the end of the week.

Goes to Halifax—Mr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, is on his way to Halifax to attend a gathering there of agricultural officials throughout the Dominion, for the purpose of conference on matters affecting the industry.

Roof Fire—Slight damage was done to the roof of premises situated at 1251 Pandora Avenue, by fire which broke out about 7:30 o'clock last night. A small grass fire at 1649 Hampshire Road at 3:30 o'clock was attended.

Seek Joseph Poole—David Poole, of Ayr, Scotland, has written to the city police asking them to forward an enclosed letter to Joseph Poole, whose present address is unknown to the sender. The address is unknown to the police also, and the letter will have to be returned to the interested in the report in as much as the province is a shipper of apples to that country.

Active Agent—Mr. John Dean, of this city, who is now touring the world, is taking every opportunity to press the claims of this province for trade openings. In the markets branch of the Department of Agriculture there has just been received from Cairo, from the offices of the British administration there, a report showing the importations into the country with their values and the place of origin. The department is interested in the report in as much as the province is a shipper of apples to that country.

Winner of Prize—Mrs. May, who with her husband, Mr. Charles John May, live at 332 St. James Street, James Bay, won the prize at the Victoria Hotel. The prize was a trip to Paris with her husband and two children. The prize was won by a contest in which she was one of the contestants.

At Hillcrest

The marriage took place at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Vancouver, on Saturday, May 31, when Eva Dorothy, daughter of Mr. Howard Fawcett, of Sevenoaks, Kent, England, became the bride of Mr. Kjeld Soyer Lincke, of Duncan, B.C., son of Mr. J. Lincke, of Dauneborg, and Mrs. Lincke, of Copenhagen, Denmark. Rev. Canon King officiated.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. E. P. Fawcett, she looked charming in a Parisian gown of ivory chiffon tulle and net. Her silk embroidered veil was held with a Juliet cap of pearls and bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaids, Miss Phyllis Fawcett, bride, the bride, Miss Elizabeth Foster, wore period gowns of tulle and net, the former in pale blue and Miss Foster in primrose yellow. Bouquets of pastel shaded sweet peas, white hats of mohair to match their frocks completed their charming ensembles. Little Miss Ruth Clements in pale pink georgette was the flower girl. Mr. Owen Lauritzen was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Philip Fawcett and Desmond Murphy.

During the signing of the register Miss Margaret Fawcett sang "Morning" and "Thou Art Like a Lovely Flower."

A reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss E. Fawcett, who, with Miss Lill J. Laurens, assisted the couple in receiving. The table was presided over by Mrs. E. P. Fawcett and Mrs. A. L. Clements, Mrs. H. O. Hoster cutting the loaves.

When the toasts were given a unique departure was the reply to the toast to the groom's parents. A record by Mrs. Lincke was played, wedding congratulations while Mr. Lincke sang the old Danish wedding hymn in addition to the salutation.

Bride and Groom to Live in Port Angeles

The Metropolitan Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Miss Eunice Whiteside, B.N., daughter of the late Rev. Arthur Whiteside, and Mr. George H. Albers, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Albers, of Brainerd, Minn., were joined in holy matrimony.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Sippel in the presence of many friends. To the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. Edward Parsons, the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Alex Menagh, who gave her away. She was becomingly gowned in egg-shell crepe back satin fastened on long princess lines, and a silk embroidered veil with orange blossoms, which had been worn by her mother. She carried a shower bouquet of tea roses and sweet peas. Her only ornament was a string of seed pearls, the gift of the groom. She was attended by her sister, Miss Joy Whiteside, whose lovely gown, fashioned on long lines, was of white silk net with painted flowers in pastel shades, and lace to match. She carried a bouquet of pink and white snapdragons and sweet peas. Little Miss Wilma Brady was the flower girl, wearing a dainty dress of silver lace over orchid satin and carrying a silver basket of rose petals.

The groom was supported by Mr. George Kempfert, of Milwaukee, and the ushers were Messrs. Oliver Beecher, of Victoria, and Mr. William Hodgson, of Port Angeles. The signing of the register was by Miss Jean Sargent, "O Promise Me."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Menagh, 2538 Quadra Street, where the bride and groom were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Menagh, who wore a powdered blue chiffon gown with hat to match.

The table was beautifully decorated with a three-tier wedding cake. A buffet luncheon was served to about seventy-five guests. Those assisting in serving were Misses C. MacKenzie, R.N., W. Beecher, L. Stephenson and M. Nicholson.

Many beautiful gifts were received by the happy couple. The groom's gift to the bride was a dress of crystal pendant; to the flower girl, a silver bracelet; to the soloist, a brooch, and to the best man, a leather wallet.

For traveling the bride wore an ensemble of orchid floral silk and hat en suite.

Mr. and Mrs. Albers will visit the Sound cities prior to making their home in Port Angeles. Mrs. Albers is a graduate of 1927 class of the training school for nurses at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island

A card party will be held at St. Paul's parish hall this evening, under the auspices of the Equinault Women's Institute, at 8 o'clock, and in the afternoon a silver tea will be held under the direction of the Child Hygiene Council. The next meeting of the institute will take place on Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

LAKE HILL

The monthly meeting of Lake Hill Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the institute room, with thirteen members present and the president, Mrs. Scott, in the chair. The offer from the B.C. Worsteds Mill of wool for one rug and also one wool hat was accepted. The design chosen for the rug was the "Thunderbird" or "Killer Whale" pattern. Mrs. Findlay reported that the tent caterpillar contest was progressing well. Members decided that the prizes for this contest should be in proportion to the number of tents collected, so a small prize will be given each child who collects 1,000 or more tents, and the amount of the first prize fixed at a later date. The card committee reported two successful card parties for May, and announced another game for Monday evening. Arrangements for the wool quilt to be made for the Victoria Fall Fair were left in the hands of the home economics committee. Prize lists for the Ward I annual exhibition were distributed by Mrs. Peddie, convenor for the fair.

After the business session, Mrs. Service took charge of the programme and called on each member for an item. The responses proved very interesting and entertaining, and concluded with a clever little contest conducted by Mrs. Porter, the prize for this being won by Mrs. Findlay. Tea was served by Mrs. Currie and Mrs. Slimmonds.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Jersey is the material foundation on which many of the season's smartest costumes rely for fashion authority. There is excellent reason for the cool confidence with which jersey costumes approach the first warm days, for they are light of weight and knitted in lacy weaves. Furthermore, they are united in all the delectable hues of the pastel color chart. Sports costumes of all types, bathing suits and semi-tailored models for town and country are developed of these practical and beautiful jerseys.

Of soft lemon yellow jersey, the frock sketched above is easily adaptable for a runabout dress in town or country. Shaped seams on the bodice and skirt have button trimming, while inverted pleats effectively develop the skirt. A subtly draped scarf of navy, white and yellow silk stripes dresses the neckline in a flattering manner.

Popular Nurse Married Yesterday

Rev. W. J. Sippel performed the marriage service yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan United Church for Miss Marjorie Morrison, R.N., of West Summerland, a popular graduate nurse of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, and Mr. Harry J. M. Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Curry, 980 Quadra Street. The church had been beautifully decorated with yellow and white flowers and greenery and during the impressive and simple ceremony the bride and groom stood beneath a large white bell decked with yellow and white blooms, flanked by screens covered with spiraea, white daisies and ferns and sprays of roses. The bride, who is a granddaughter of Mr. William Atkinson, of Penitence, was given in marriage by Mr. A. L. Innes, and looked dignified and sweet in her wedding gown of soft ivory satin cut in medieval style, with a long full skirt, longer at the back, and plain bodice with long tight sleeves. Soft folds of delicate shadow lace hung from the waist on either side, a band of the same edging round the neckline. A white satin rose and lilies of the valley on the front of the high waistline and an embroidered net veil stiffly wired off the face held with a circlet of orange blossoms and hanging in long folds completed the bridal attire. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas. The maid of honor was Miss Emma M. Curry, who wore a frock of foliage green georgette with a bolero and full skirt and a hat of lace green straw embroidered with flowers, and the bridesmaid was Miss Laura McLachlan, in a gown of yellow silk lace with a three-tier skirt and hat to match. Both carried bouquets of yellow snapdragons and white carnations tied with streamers to match their frocks. Mr. Harry Lewis supported the groom.

A small reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Innes, intimate friends of the bride, to which only relatives were invited. A profusion of early summer flowers were arranged in the house. The three-tier bride cake, surmounted with a vase of Cecil Brunner roses, centred the refreshment table, which was decorated with vases of pink and mauve sweet peas and tall pink candles in silver holders. The bride and groom left later by seaplane for Vancouver, en route to Alta

Lake, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride traveling in a cocoa brown tulle with a soft satin blouse of shell pink and hat en suite and a fox fur stole. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Curry will make their home at 102 Wellington Avenue.

AMY GOT HER NEW DRESSES!

"I must get around Jack to buy me those two lovely dresses I saw today," thought Amy, "and I know the way to get them." Let's see what she did.

That evening she put some bacon on to fry. Then she put some Clark's Pork and Beans into a dish and, after pouring some bacon fat over them, popped the dish into the oven.

In about ten minutes she took out the dish of beans which by now were a tempting, rich, nut-brown color... then she spread the bacon in fancy array over the beans.

"Mmmmm!" chuckled Amy, as she looked at the appetizing dish of beans. "When Jack sees this for supper... well, he never could resist Clark's Pork and Beans." (P.S.—She got the dresses.)

We are so confident that you will find Clark's Pork and Beans really delicious that you may buy them with the guarantee that if you are not fully satisfied with them, your grocer will refund you your money without question. ... They MUST be good!

Effective on September 1, Thomas Ross will be chief usher of the City Temple.

Arrangements for the continuance of the services via the air from the radio studio were left in the hands of the executive committee. Popular hymn-singing and well-known church melodies will be discussed over the microphone, if suitable arrangements can be made by the committee.

GRAIN DEALER GOES TO JAIL

Fred H. Bole Sentenced to Two-Year Term for Obtaining Money by False Statements

WINNIPEG, Man., June 4.—Fred H. Bole, prominent Winnipeg grain man, today was sentenced to two years in penitentiary on charges of obtaining money from the Bank of Montreal by false statements. Bole, who was head of the Electric Elevator Company, Limited, recently suspended from trading on the Winnipeg Exchange, pleaded guilty in Provincial Police Court.

Three charges were laid against the grain official, covering amounts totaling $85,000 alleged to have been obtained from the bank. After entry of plea of guilty to all three charges, Bole was sentenced to one year on one charge and two years on each of the other two charges. All sentences, the court ruled, are to run concurrently.

ARRESTED MAY 14
Bole was arrested May 14, four months after his company was suspended from trading on the Winnipeg market. He was released on bail of $50,000 the following day.

According to an official statement from the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in February, creditors of the Electric Elevator Company, successor to the Bole Grain Company on the exchange, were to suffer a loss of about $2,000,000.

Charges against Bole alleged that on or about January 16, 1930, he made a false written statement with intention of inducing the bank to make money advances; and that on or about January 16, 1930, he made a false statement regarding his company's financial condition in order to secure $85,000 loan or credit from the bank.

FIRST SEIZURES OF LIQUOR MADE UNDER NEW CANADIAN LAW

WINDSOR, Ont., June 4.—Ontario Provincial Police today reported the first seizures of liquor under the new Canadian law, which prohibits exports into the United States.

The barge G.W. 4 was seized on Lake St. Clair at Stony Point, Inspector Sidney Oliver reported. He said 1,500 cases of beer were found. A speed boat also was seized at Stony Point and three men arrested. An Ontario highway traffic officer at Essex, Ont., sixteen miles east of here, found twelve bags containing whisky in a field, in which an airplane was landing. The plane took off again and several men in another part of the field escaped in an automobile.

Entrance to British Consulate Burned

MONTREAL, June 4.—The entrance to the British consulate was partly burned yesterday morning by persons who fled after setting the place afire and filling the wall with posters which attacked Great Britain's stand against the Indian Nationalist campaign.

FIRST ZANE GREY. TALKIE SCREENED

Richard Arlen Seen in Epic Thriller of Pioneer, "The Light of Western Stars"

At last Zane Grey's thrilling characters step from the page of his popular novels onto the screen—and talk. Paramount has made the long awaited entertainment treat a reality and Grey's wonder tale of a cowboy on the Western frontier, "The Light of Western Stars," will show at the Dominion Theatre, starting today for a three-day run.

"The Light of Western Stars" is like a page torn from the gripping life story of the West. It pictures in scene and dialogue, the last desperate stand of banded lawlessness on the American frontier. Otto Brower, maker of two great silent Westerns, "Sunset Pass" and "The Virginian," is at the helm. "The Light of Western Stars," brings Richard Arlen forward in his second Western role. Again, as in "The Virginian," he is at greatest advantage in his action-drama of the outdoors. And Mary Brian, the leading lady of "The Virginian," seen recently opposite Arlen in "Burning Up," is the sweetheart.

COHAN DRAMA OFFERS CHANCE

Local Fans Will See Richard Dix at Capitol in Self-Selected Role

In a role he chose himself from among all available dramatic material, Richard Dix opens today on the screen of the Capitol Theatre for a three-day run.

As the hero-novelist of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," Dix begins his new career as a star of radio pictures. It is an auspicious start, giving Dix a part he had longed to play, and fulfilling his promise to top the best of his brilliant career.

The talking screen drama, adapted from the sensational successful George M. Cohan play, which was based in turn on Earl Derr Biggers' novel, presents Dix as a writer who encounters an amazing night of adventure in a deserted inn while on the quest of a place of solitude in which to work.

"The Devil Bear" Will Be Shown At Columbia

If you want romance, if you want excitement, if you want thrills, if you want a story that is a masterpiece of the screen, then don't fail to witness the local showing of "The Devil Bear," directed by Louis M. Seaton, which comes to the Columbia Theatre today.

"The Devil Bear," which was filmed in its entirety in the Canadian wilds, is one of the most remarkable talking pictures to be shown in this city.

The case is of stellar quality and consists of Dorothy Dwan, Carol Nye, Mitchell Lewis, Bobby Mack, Charles K. French and a host of others almost equal cinema rank.

"Louise" Will Make Hit in Coliseum Picture

Maurice Chevalier, to France and England, and Eddy Cantor and Al Jolson are to America, and the greatest international genius of song and pantomime that New York has seen in many a long day, has a song in "Innocents of Paris" which he believes will be his greatest lyric success.

The song is "Louise" and it was written especially for the French stage idol by Richard Whiting and Leo Robin. There are two other songs besides "Louise" which Chevalier sings in English. They are "It's a Habit of Mine," and "On Top of the World Alone."

LAUGHS GALORE IN 'PERSONALITY'

Playhouse Film Is Full of Human Interest, With Delicate Home Touches

Columbia's all-talking comedy, "Personality," which will open at the Playhouse Theatre today, is the season's greatest contribution to sophisticated comedy. Not only are there laughs galore, there are human interest touches that strike home again and again.

Interest in the plot centres about Sandy Jenkins, a forty-dollar-a-week draughtsman, who married Lil Moore, a pretty flapper. In order to prove that he is somewhat of a money-maker, he bluffs his way into a better job.

A short period of luxurious living in an expensive apartment follows. When Sandy's employer discovers his deception, he fires him. The crash follows. The credit people move the furniture out of the apartment; Lil goes home to Ma; and Sandy, within a few weeks, is forced to the low status of a vacuum cleaner salesman. How Lil finally rescues Sandy and matters are happily adjusted, supplies the rest of the action for this diverting bit of entertainment.

A Tammany politician who retired after amassing a fortune decided to build himself a show place for a home in Westchester, high-toned suburb of New York City.

"I want to give the place a name," he confided to an old newspaper friend; "you know, a name with one word that will describe me and the spirit of the place."

"Well, now that you have quit politics," suggested the scribe, "why not call the place 'Dunrobin'?"

The Grocer—Yes, you'll find this 30-cent butter would be cheap at twice the money.

Mrs. Borden-Lodge—Yes, I know it would. I've used it before and my boarders eat hardly any of it.

LADYSMITH HOLDS SPECIALIST SHOW

Horticultural Society Displays Irish Perennials and Flowering Shrubs

LADYSMITH, June 4.—Following the successful showing recently of tulip and contemporary blooms, the Ladysmith Horticultural Society, on May 31, held another display in the Mutual Trading premises for Irish perennials and flowering shrubs.

Considering the selected classes of the exhibits, the quality and the limited field covered by the society's activities, the quality and variety of the response were truly astonishing. The best gardens of the district stripped their choicest blooms to lend color to the occasion, and the showrooms were a pleasing enough scene to satisfy the most critical. The efforts of the hard-working committee cannot be too highly commended. During the afternoon, the ladies of the L.O.D.E. served tea and light refreshments to the numerous visitors.

These occasional exhibits, made possible by the activities of the society in creating a wide interest in the possibilities of this district for more intensive floral culture. Already, arrangements are in hand to hold a second display, than previously held, on June 14. This will be a rose show, and enthusiasts are awaiting the date with keen interest.

The Story Behind the Play

By J. J. GELLER

"THE SILVER KING"

It has long been the theory of the veteran dramatist, Henry Arthur Jones, that the drama should be distinguished from the theatre. His contention is that drama is an art of authorship, but theatre is a form of popular entertainment. During the last fifty years Jones has given us examples of the drama which concern themselves with the social conduct of our age. As to the theatre, Jones has contributed "The Silver King," one of the most modern dramatic spectacles, which belongs to the realm of theatre entertainment.

The writing of this thriller was achieved after seven years of unrequited toil, during which he turned out a number of stage pieces that failed to gain any recognition for this impoverished son of an English tenant farmer. "The Silver King" proved the turning point in his life, for its monetary rewards released him from poverty's grip and the theatre became enriched with a number of serious dramas displaying a high literary quality.

Some time during the early part of 1882, Jones, then in his thirty-first year and struggling for a foothold in the theatre, began wracking his mind for a theme that might draw the public into the theatre en masse. He longed for something robust, virile and full of action, realizing that if he was to make any progress he must as well commence by serving entertainment to the masses rather than the classes. His novelties had convinced him that the gateway to financial success lay in catering to the populace. He resolved to bend his efforts toward writing a good, stiff melodrama. Before doing so, he concentrated upon one of England's foremost actors, Wilson Barrett, for the titular role, and with this figure in mind, he lit upon a plot wherein a guiltless man becomes morally regenerated through the pen of a remorse. Young Jones sought the collaboration of Henry Herman, an experienced play adaptor, who helped him finish the play in five acts and sixteen scenes. There was a total of twenty-seven speaking parts.

A struggle between the hero, Wilfred Denver, and his adversary, ends in the murder of the latter. Our hero believes that he is the murderer, but the audience is permitted to see that the fatal blow actually comes from a third person. So adroitly is Denver enmeshed in circumstantial evidence that he really believes that he committed the crime. He flees from England to America, where he begins life anew under the name of John Franklin. In Nevada he amasses a fortune in the mining of silver and earns the sobriquet of "The Silver King." But the stigma of a man's murder haunts him and he returns to England to learn, much to his amazement, that he was innocent.

Out of this plot Jones and his collaborator created a rousing thriller, which William Archer later hailed as "the best of the modern English melodramas." It found a ready acceptance at the hands of Wilson Barrett, who produced it at the Princess Theatre in London on November 16, 1882, with himself in the principal role, as Jones originally planned.

Although "The Silver King" was written with no thought of publication, it stands revealed today as an exciting play, with good clear dialogue studied throughout with a lofty sentiment. Barrett scored heavily in this play. Within three months a second company, under Lester Wallack's auspices, presented the melodrama in the theatre bearing his name in New York City, on January 27, 1883, where it kept a capacity audience wrapped in attention—a sure sign of an engrossing play.

The royalties that flowed into Jones' empty coffers were sufficient to enable him to write plays of his choice. Nevertheless, "The Silver King" held the stage for forty years before its surrender to the new generation.

A DASHING, DARING LOVER! Dick Arlen, lost to Gary Cooper in "The Virginian," can't be stopped here.

A nonamoker was denouncing the evils of tobacco. "Carefully compiled statistics," said he, "show that every cigar a man smokes shortens his life by three days, and every cigarette he smokes shortens his life by a day." At this point a member of the audience said: "Are those statistics absolutely accurate?" "Absolutely, sir," said the speaker.

"Then I've been dead over two hundred years," said the interrupter. "Yes, my friends," said the theological lecturer, "some admire Moses, who instituted the old law, some Paul, who spread the new. But after all, which character in the Bible has had the largest following?" As he paused, a voice from the back bench shouted "Ananias."
